From the Executive Director... 2
New Members 3
Endowment Contributors 3
Obituaries 3
Announcements 4
Awards & Fellowships 5
Paper Calendar 5
Meeting Calendar 5
Employment Opportunities 6
Recent Doctoral Dissertations 6
FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR...

Dear Fellow Members,

The year is ending quickly and our move to Rutgers is almost upon us. In fact this is the last time I shall write this column from Atlanta. Preparations for the big move have started and our offices are beginning to resemble the staging ground for some sort of exotic expedition to the frozen North. Cardboard boxes in various states of fullness abound, while the remaining staff struggle to get out the 1998 membership renewal notice. A clam chaos has descended upon us, I guess this is the clam before the storm.

Moving is good, it forces us to think, to prioritize, and to divest ourselves of a few of the less necessary accouterments of life. Ever since the advent of sedentism sometime in the Neolithic, the human instinct to accumulate and amass possessions has run amuck. Moving forces us to restore a sense of balance.

While its nice to be philosophical about the difficulties of this move, its also time to be practical. The renovations, painting, and cleaning of our new home are now complete. Also we have hired Ms Karen Bryant, who will be the new Assistant to the Executive Director. Karen has over 20 years experience at Rutgers, in fact we poached her from the Department of History! The only thing remaining now is for us to occupy the space and rebuild our staff.

Throughout January membership services will be disrupted as we organize ourselves. We ask for your patience and that you keep an eye on our web page, which will not change, for news of our move and other events.

Wish us luck and we will see you at Rutgers,

Chris

P.S. Let me remind you of our URL and give you our new mailing address.

http://www.sas.upenn.edu/African_Studies/Home_Page/ASA_Menu.html

African Studies Association
Rutgers The State University of New Jersey
Douglass Campus
132 George Street
New Brunswick, NJ 08901-1400
WE WELCOME NEW ASA MEMBERS
(who joined between June 1, 1997 and August 31, 1997)
Leo Barrington        G Eitter-Lewis
Ruth Buckley          Jedrzej G Frynas
Francesca Castaldi    Francis Githieya
Mike Connell          Kingsley Harbor
Robert Dible          Nikolas Heynen
Martha Dillard        Nancy Jackson
Karen Jacobsen        Eita Kralovec
Etta Kralovec         Thomas McCaskie
Thomas Meyers         Thomas Myers
Maura Mitchell        Najee Muhammad
Najee Muhammad        Jurgen Muller
M Nelson-Richards     Vinh-Kim Nguyen
Dapo Olorunyomi       Veronica Ouma
Pierre Petit          Lori Runkle
Nana Wilson-Tagoe
Arkil Khalfani
Najee Muhammad
Pierre Petit
Lori Runkle
Martha Dillard
Nancy Jackson
Karen Jacobsen
Eita Kralovec
Thomas McCaskie
Thomas Meyers
Maura Mitchell
Najee Muhammad
Jurgen Muller
M Nelson-Richards
Vinh-Kim Nguyen
Dapo Olorunyomi
Veronica Ouma
Pierre Petit
Lori Runkle
Nana Wilson-Tagoe

WE THANK ASA ENDOWMENT DONORS
(who contributed between June 1, 1997 and August 31, 1997)
K Agyenim-Boateng     Eunice Charles
Martha G Anderson      John M D Crosby
Helen R Aspasas       William J Dewey
Paulo Bessa           P F Savelsbeg
Joseph E Black        Karen E Fields
Judy Buttermann       Richard H Forbes
Karen T Hansen        Phyllis Martin
Mary Holmstrom        Jack H Mower
Christian D Horton    Angeliki Muaka
Lansine Kaba          Tola O Pearce
Robert O Lagace       Philip M Peck
Julie Livingston      Dov Ronen
Sandra & Lamin        Kenneth E Wilburn
Sanneh
Herbert Shore
Katherine A Snyder
Neal W Sobania
Charles H Stuart

Special Donors (gifts of $100 or more)
Abena P A Busia       R Hunt Davis
Thomas Callaghby      Guy Delusignan
Alison L Desforges    Audie Klotz
Karen Fung           Kathleen Sheldon
Dwayne Woods          I William Zartman

Submissions to ASA News received by e-mail or on disk will be given priority.

We Never Close
Need information about the ASA, or want to send membership information to a friend? Check us out on the World Wide Web:
http://www.sas.upenn.edu/African_Studies/Home_Page/ASA_Menu.html

Obituaries

Aaron Lee Segal
By Herbert H. Werlin
College Park, Maryland

It is with great sadness that I report the death from colon cancer of Aaron Lee Segal, age 59, on April 17, 1997, in El Paso, Texas. Since 1981 he had been a professor of political science at the University of Texas-El Paso. Prior to that, he had been a program manager and analyst with the National Science Foundation in Washington, DC (1976-1981), an associate professor at Cornell University (1972-75), and an editor of Africa Report (1969-1971).

Aaron's diversity of activities, interests, and publications were a source of delight and amazement to his friends. He was at home in many languages: French, Spanish, Portuguese, and even Swahili (though that could appear a bit funny to Swahili speakers). His final publication was an atlas of international migration (Oxford University Press, 1993), having to do with the movement of populations in recorded time. He also authored a 1987 analysis of science and technology in developing countries (Westview Press), several studies of population policies in the Caribbean (1968 and 1975), and research on economic cooperation in the Caribbean and East Africa. His co-authored books on Haitian politics (Prager 1984 and 1992) and on traveling in Africa (Scribners 1973) remain useful sources of information.

Aaron was a brilliant scholar, winning a Rhodes scholarship at Occidental College in 1959. After Oxford, he became a student of African studies at the University of California at Berkeley in 1962. Within a year, he had completed all the requirements for a PhD in political science except the dissertation, had co-authored with Carl Rosberg a study of the East African Federation, and had won fellowships from the Ford Foundation and the National Defense Language Program. While writing his dissertation on the East African Federation, and completing it in 1965 under Carl Rosberg, Aaron published research on Asians in East Africa and inter-ethnic conflict in Rwanda.

Aaron regularly attended ASA annual meetings and participated in many panels as chair, discussant, and speaker. Old timers will remember his ability to knowledgeably discuss a wide variety of topics and to assist scholars (particularly younger ones), regardless of their discipline, native language, or country being studied. His energy, memory of names, and capacity for friendship were remarkable, even when he suffered from sickness or depression. His last papers presented at the 1995 and 1996 ASA meetings had to do with the difficulties of democratization in Africa. Indeed, he was at the end of his life planning to edit a book on this topic.

Aaron Segal was married three times. His survivors include a son, Marcus, and a daughter, Jenna, both living in Los Angeles, California.

October/December 1997
Sam C. Nolutshungu, 1945–1997
By Richard Joseph
Emory University

Sam Nolutshungu, Professor of political science and African politics at the University of Rochester, died of cancer on August 12, 1997. His remains were returned for burial in his native South Africa. In addition to a mass of Christian burial in Pittsford, New York, on August 16, a memorial service was conducted at the University of Rochester on November 1. At the 1997 annual meeting of the African Studies Association, a memorial tribute for Sam was also arranged.

Sam began his university education at Fort Hare and completed it at Keele University and the University of Manchester in the United Kingdom. He held teaching appointments in Africa, England and the United States at the Universities of Ibadan, Manchester and Rochester, respectively. Sam also had visiting appointments in Canada, South Africa and Zimbabwe and at Yale and Dartmouth. He had a distinguished publishing record, including numerous articles on African politics, South Africa's transformation, and international organization and security. His doctoral dissertation was a pioneering study entitled, South Africa in Africa: A Study of Ideology and Foreign Policy (Manchester University Press, 1975). His most recent book appeared in 1996: Limits of Anarchy: Intervention and State Formation in Chad (University Press of Virginia) and Margins of Insecurity: Minorities and International Security (University of Rochester Press).

The death of Sam Nolutshungu at 52 years of age is a great tragedy for his wife, Veli, his daughters, Nomvuyo and Nomalungelo, his brother, Peter, and other family members. It is also a great tragedy for his many friends, colleagues and current and former students as Sam was a kind and generous individual. The tragedy of his untimely death was, moreover, an event of national significance in South Africa. He was, without question, one of the foremost Black Africans who overcame the many obstacles created by apartheid to achieve high academic distinction. In December 1996, after a tortuous and highly publicized process, Sam was selected to be the next Vice Chancellor of the University of Witwatersrand. A month later, he withdrew his candidacy on the ground of ill-health. There then ensued a public trial in the media of this gentle intellectual based on spurious allegations that his illness was a pretext to avoid taking up the Wits offer. In addition to the physical torture of a pernicious cancer and aggressive medical treatments, Sam had to endure during his final months unseemly attacks on his personal and professional integrity.

The magnitude of the loss of Sam Nolutshungu at the very moment when he was poised to return to his native land to take up its most prestigious academic position virtually defies description. At a time when the South African government has raised the challenge of achieving an "African Renaissance," the country has also lost the services of a renaissance scholar in its fullest sense. Although his central interest was in international relations and politics, Sam's vibrant intellect ranged widely, through social history, philosophy and literary theory. Drawing on the vast panoply of his knowledge and experience, he would have challenged the lecturers and students at Wits to pursue the highest academic achievements while also being attentive to the pressing needs of the nation.

Sam's untimely death, at the exact moment of his professional elevation, prevented him from obtaining the wider recognition that he greatly merited. Despite his incomparable brilliance, he was a modest person; and he never allowed the rough treatment he received from many quarters, at home and abroad, to alter his humane and engaging disposition. It was my great fortune to have had an adjoining office to Sam's at the University of Ibadan in 1976-78, which meant that there was at least a two-person seminar frequently underway. Any conversation with him was likely to suggest innumerable ways of looking at any issue. When Sam left to return to Manchester, the political science department was sadly deprived of his irreplaceable energy, passion for teaching, and exceptional collegiality.

As I reread Sam's erudite public address at Wits on October 23, 1996, "Beyond the Gold Standard? The Idea of a (post-apartheid) University," I was struck by his ruminations on post-modernism and post-Marxism. He cited Jacques Derrida approvingly as suggesting "that our duty as scholars is not to wish ghosts and specters away, or to flee them, or to respond to them with rites of exorcism, but to talk to them." Less than two months later, Sam was himself stricken with a terminal illness. In honoring this thoughtful and generous colleague, we must take up the charge he unknowingly gave us: to move beyond feeling bereft at the tragic curtailment of his life and resume our dialogue with him. He has bequeathed us the unexploited treasure of his published work on many issues with which we still wrestle. We can therefore speak with him, to our lasting benefit, and must make the time to do so.

Richard F. Wilding
Dr. Richard Wilding, archaeologist, historian, and teacher, perished in an automobile accident in Kenya late in 1997.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

African Art
■ Soul of Africa, a major international exhibition of African art will have its North American premiere March 15, 1998, at Munson Williams Proctor Institute. This extensive exhibition features more than 200 outstanding objects from Central and West Africa, assembled between 1916 and 1928 by the noted Swiss collector Han Coray. Following its inaugural six-month showing in Utica, NY, the exhibition will travel to museums in Toledo, Quebec, Pittsburgh, and Omaha. Soul of Africa will remain on view at MWPI through September 13, 1998.

African Web Site
■ African Legacy has set up web site www.trayton.demon.co.uk with interesting new material on Africa. This includes studies of the positive interactions between population, environment and the economy; past and present aspects of agricultural and industrial development; recent discoveries and surveys of Africa's largest ancient monuments, including a 100 mile long, 1000 year kingdom boundary; conservation and looting of Africa's antiquities; the rigging of Nigeria's Independence elections; the economics of corruption; and shadow revenues with their local and international implications. Contact P. J. Darling, tel: (706) 796 3828.

1998 MSU Shona Summer Institute
■ From June 22–July 24, 1998, the African Studies Center and the Department of Linguistics, and Germanic, Slavic, Asian and African Languages at Michigan State University will offer a five-week Intensive Summer Program in Shona, preceded by a workshop on Zimbabwean Culture, June 18-20. Three courses will be offered: elementary; intermediate; and advanced Shona. The initial deadline is February 13, 1998, and fellowships can be awarded any time after this date. Contact Yacob Fisseha, tel: (517) 353-1700, e-mail: fissehay@pilot.msu.edu.

World History
■ The NEH Summer Institute: The Environment and World History, 1500–2000, will take place from June 22–July 24, 1998, at the University of California, Santa Cruz. The Institute is geared to the needs of historians who wish to develop a deeper understanding of world history and environmental history over the period 1500–2000. Twenty-five participants will be selected from a national application pool. Contact Edmund Burke, tel: (408) 459-2287, e-mail: wldhist@cats.ucsc.edu.
Art Exhibition
The Metropolitan Museum of Art presents a unique exhibition of some 50 outstanding sculptures—including masks, free-standing figures, and architectural posts—all of which are attributed to individual Yoruba masters from Nigeria and the Republic of Benin. The exhibition will be held from September 11, 1997–March 1, 1998. For further information contact Harold Holzer, tel: (212) 650-2130.

AWARDS & FELLOWSHIPS

December 15, 1997—Black Atlantic Fellowships
• Applications for the Rutgers Center for Historical Analysis senior and post-doctoral fellowships from individuals engaged in research on topics related to The Black Atlantic: Race, Nation, and Gender. Contact Deborah Gray White or Mia Elisabeth Bay, Project Directors, Rutgers Center for Historical Analysis, Rutgers University, 88 College Avenue, New Brunswick, NJ 08901.

January 15, 1998—Visiting Fellowship Competition
• Applications for the Center for International Studies (CIS) of the School of International Relations, University of Southern California, Visiting Fellowship Competition for the 1998-1999 academic year. The competition is open to junior scholars, recent PhDs or those who have nearly completed a dissertation. For the 1998-99 academic year, the Center is seeking to attract applications from those working on projects in international development, broadly defined. The Center expects to announce awards in March. Contact Laurie Brand, Director, Center for International Studies, ATTN: Visiting Fellowship Competition, Los Angeles, CA 90089-0037. Tel: (213) 740-9605, fax: (213) 740-1070, e-mail: bird@rcf.usc.edu.

MEETING CALENDAR

November 11, 1997—Electronic Technology
• Workshop organized by the Electronic Technology Group of the African Studies Association in collaboration with the Office of Emerging Technologies at Ohio State University. Theme: "Uses of Information Technology in Teaching About Africa." Contact Lois McAdoo, University Technology Services, Ohio State University, Columbus, OH 43215. Tel: (614) 292-5901.

November 17, 1997—Political Science
• Submissions for the New York State Political Science Association's 52nd Annual Conference, to be held May 8–9, 1998, in Albany, NY. For information contact Cynthia Ward, Department of Public Administration, Sage Graduate School of the Sage Colleges, 140 New Scotland Avenue, Albany, NY 12208. Tel: (518) 445-1724, fax: (518) 465-5414, e-mail: wardc@sage.edu.

December 1, 1997—African Literature
• Submissions for the 24th Annual Conference of the African Literature Association, to be held March 25–29, 1998, in Austin, TX, on the theme of "Multiculturalism and Hybridity in African Literatures." For information contact Hal Wylie, French Department, University of Texas, Austin, TX 78712. Tel: (512) 471-5531, fax: (512) 471-8492, e-mail: hwylie@uts.cc.utexas.edu.

February 1, 1998—Papyri and Inscriptions
• Submissions for an International Congress held by the Center of Papyrological Studies and Inscriptions of Ain-Shams University, from September 5–9, 1998, on the theme, "Palestine on the Light of Papyri and Inscriptions." Contact Alia Hanafi, Center of Papyrological Studies and Inscriptions, Ain-Shams University, Abbasia, Cairo 11566, Egypt. Tel: 00202 2844283, fax: 00202 2859251.

May 1998—Cross-Racial Identities
• Submissions for a special edition of Mots Pluriels, on the subject of inter-racial, multi-racial, multi-ethnic, or cross cultural identities from scholars of Africa and other regions. Contact Maureen Perkins, Department of History, University of Western Australia, Nedlands, Australia 6007. E-mail: m.perkins@arts.uwa.edu.au. Submissions may be in English or French.

PAPER CALENDAR

November 17, 1997—Political Science
• Submissions for the New York State Political Science Association's 52nd Annual Conference, to be held May 8–9, 1998, in Albany, NY. For information contact Cynthia Ward, Department of Public Administration, Sage Graduate School of the Sage Colleges, 140 New Scotland Avenue, Albany, NY 12208. Tel: (518) 445-1724, fax: (518) 465-5414, e-mail: wardc@sage.edu.

December 1, 1997—African Literature
• Submissions for the 24th Annual Conference of the African Literature Association, to be held March 25–29, 1998, in Austin, TX, on the theme of "Multiculturalism and Hybridity in African Literatures." For information contact Hal Wylie, French Department, University of Texas, Austin, TX 78712. Tel: (512) 471-5531, fax: (512) 471-8492, e-mail: hwylie@uts.cc.utexas.edu.

February 1, 1998—Papyri and Inscriptions
• Submissions for an International Congress held by the Center of Papyrological Studies and Inscriptions of Ain-Shams University, from September 5–9, 1998, on the theme, "Palestine on the Light of Papyri and Inscriptions." Contact Alia Hanafi, Center of Papyrological Studies and Inscriptions, Ain-Shams University, Abbasia, Cairo 11566, Egypt. Tel: 00202 2844283, fax: 00202 2859251.

May 1998—Cross-Racial Identities
• Submissions for a special edition of Mots Pluriels, on the subject of inter-racial, multi-racial, multi-ethnic, or cross cultural identities from scholars of Africa and other regions. Contact Maureen Perkins, Department of History, University of Western Australia, Nedlands, Australia 6007. E-mail: m.perkins@arts.uwa.edu.au. Submissions may be in English or French.

MEETING CALENDAR

November 11, 1997—Electronic Technology
• Workshop organized by the Electronic Technology Group of the African Studies Association in collaboration with the Office of Emerging Technologies at Ohio State University. Theme: "Uses of Information Technology in Teaching About Africa." Contact Lois McAdoo, University Technology Services, Ohio State University, Columbus, OH 43215. Tel: (614) 292-5901.

1998—Diasporal Values and Ideas
• Conference sponsored by the Institute of Early American History and Culture, and the Haifa University American Studies Program. Theme: "More than Cool Reason: Black Responses to Enslavement, Exile, and Resettlement." Contact Ronald Hoffman, Institute of Early American History and Culture, PO Box 8781, Williamsburg, VA 23187-5871. Tel: (804) 221-1133, fax: (804) 221-1047, e-mail: ieahcl@factsaff.wm.edu.

January 29–February 1, 1998—Higher Education
• Sixth American Association of Higher Education conference on faculty roles and rewards, to be held in Orlando, FL. Contact Pamela Bender, Program Coordinator, Forum on Faculty Roles and Rewards, AAHE, One DuPont Circle, Suite 360, Washington, DC 20036-1110. Fax: (202) 293-0073.

• 24th Annual Conference of the African Literature Association, to be held in Austin, TX. Theme: "Multiculturalism and Hybridity in African Literatures." For information contact Hal Wylie, French Department, University of Texas, Austin, TX 78712. Tel: (512) 471-5531, fax: (512) 471-8492, e-mail: hwylie@uts.cc.utexas.edu.

April 3–4, 1998—European Expansion
• 2nd biennial meeting of the Forum on European Expansion and Global Interaction, to be held in San Marino, CA. Contact David Hancock, Charles Warren Center for Studies in American History, Robinson Hall, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA 02138. Tel: (617) 495-3591, fax: (617) 496-2111, e-mail: hancockd@umich.edu.

May 8–9, 1998—Political Science
• 52nd Annual Conference of the New York State Political Science Association, to be held in Albany, NY. For information contact Cynthia Ward, Department of Public Administration, Sage Graduate School of the Sage Colleges, 140 New Scotland Avenue, Albany, NY 12208. Tel: (518) 445-1724, fax: (518) 465-5414, e-mail: wardc@sage.edu.

May 21–23, 1998—Africanist Archaeology
• 14th Biennial Conference of the Society of Africanist Archaeologists, hosted by Syracuse University. Contact Christopher R. DeCorse, SAFA Secretary and Conference Organizer, Department of Anthropology, Syracuse University, 209 Maxwell Hall, Syracuse, NY 13244. Tel: (315) 443-4677, fax: (315) 443-4800, e-mail: crdecor@maxwell.syr.edu.

July 8–11, 1998—Third Sector Research
• 3rd International Conference of the International Society for Third Sector Research, to be held in Geneva, Switzerland. Theme: "The Contribution of the Third Sector to Social, Economic, and Political Change." For information contact ISTR, The Johns Hopkins University, 551 Wyman Park Building, 3400 N. Charles Street, Baltimore, MD 21218-2688. Tel: (410) 516-4870.

September 5–9, 1998—Papyri and Inscriptions
• The Center of Papyrological Studies and Inscriptions of Ain-Shams University will hold an International Congress on the theme, "Palestine on the Light of Papyri and Inscriptions." Contact Alia Hanafi, Center of Papyrological Studies and Inscriptions, Ain-Shams University, Abbasia, Cairo 11566, Egypt. Tel: 00202 2844283, fax: 00202 2859251.
EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Sub-Saharan African History
* The University of Central Florida announces a search for a tenure-track assistant professor to teach at introductory level courses in African history. The application review begins November 15, 1997, and applications must be postmarked by December 5, 1997. Contact Elmar Fetscher, Search Committee Chair, History Department, University of Central Florida, Orlando, FL 32816-1350.

African History
* The Department of History at Grand Valley State University seeks a tenure-track assistant professor specializing in African history or American history, the era and region are open. The successful candidate will teach upper division courses in African history and general education courses in World, Western, or American Civilization. The department particularly welcomes applications from candidates with the ability to teach upper level courses in a second field, such as South Africa, Modern Europe, or American history. Contact Frances A. Kelleher, Chair, Department of History, Grand Valley State University, 1 Campus Drive Allendale, Michigan 49401-9403. Tel: (616) 895-6611.

East African Field Work
* A Post-Doctoral Social Science Research Associate is needed for 6-12 months of field work in East Africa (southern Ethiopia and northern Kenya), beginning Winter 1997-98, with a USAID-funded research project. Major tasks concern identification, and where possible, quantification, of multiple natural and social risks facing pastoralists and how risk exposure and impact vary across distinct subpopulations; and assembly of secondary data on markets, rural finance, and public services delivery. Contact Christopher B. Barrett, Department of Economics, UMC 3530, Utah State University, Logan, UT 84322-3530.

African Studies
* The African Studies Program of the University of Arizona invites applications for two positions: A tenure-track, open rank position in Political Economy. Primary specialization in the area of African American Political Economy and a secondary emphasis on Africa, the Caribbean, or Latin America is desired. A tenure-track, open-rank position in either African/African American Economic History or Anthropology. Contact Chair, Africana Studies Search Committee, University of Arizona, Martin Luther King Jr. Building, Room 305, PO Box 2102128, Tucson, AZ 85721. Review of applications will begin December 19, 1997.

RECENT DOCTORAL DISSERTATIONS
Compiled by Joseph J. Lauer & Cheikh Anta Mbaké Babou (Michigan State University)

The theses listed below were reported in Dissertation Abstracts International (DAI), vol. 57, no. 12 & v. 58, nos. 1-2; or in Index to Theses, with Abstracts, Accepted for Higher Degrees by the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland (Aslib), v. 45, no. 5 & v. 46, nos. 1-2. Each citation ends with the order number, if any. American theses are usually available from University Microfilms International (PO Box 1346, Ann Arbor, MI 48106-1346). For British or UK theses (with DX prefix) contact British Thesis Unit, British Library Document Supply Centre, Boston Spa, Wetherby, LS23 7BG; email: <dsc-thesis-service@bl.uk>. For Canadian theses (with CN prefix) contact National Library of Canada (395 Wellington St, Ottawa K1A ON4). See DAI or Aslib for abstracts and other details.

This is the 36th quarterly supplement to American and Canadian Doctoral Dissertations and Master's Theses on Africa, 1974-1987 (Atlanta: Crossroads Press, 1989).

Agriculture

BUI89,250.

Harris, F. Nutrient dynamics of the farming system of the Kano close-settled zone, Nigeria. Ph.D., Cambridge (U.K.), 1996.

Imakando, M. Methods for the design and evaluation of privatized livestock services [sub-Saharan Africa]. Ph.D., Reading (U.K.), 1996.

Kashaija, I.N. Factors influencing nematode population densities and root damage on banana cultivars in Uganda. Ph.D., Reading (U.K.), 1996.

Paul, T.C. Fusarium wilt of oil palm: studies on resistance and pathogenicity [Ivory Coast], Ph.D., Bath (U.K.), 1995. BX004507.

October/December 1997

Business Administration

Tarbaghia, T.M.S. Key factors influencing the success of industrial companies in Libya. Ph.D., Bradford (U.K.), 1995.

Earth Sciences

Economics

October/December 1997

Education

Daniels, Doria. Women and literacy in South Africa: I never wrote one exam in class, but I passed many tests in life. Ph.D., U. of South Carolina, 1996. 9720216.

Mebo, P. Class size and student behaviour: a comparison of the strategies employed in different size classes by students studying communication skills in the Kenyan state universities. Ph.D., Leeds (U.K.), 1995.

Fine Arts

Geography

Health Sciences

History

Arogundade, T. The Nigerian military and the...

Green, Rebecca. Addressing and redressing the ancestors: weaving, the ancestors, and reburials in Swansea (UK), 1995.

Information Science

Language

Information Science

Language

Information Science

Language

Music

Physical Sciences

Hutt, D.J. Tectonics and volcanism of East Africa as seen using remote sensing imagery. Ph.D., Newcastle upon Tyne (U.K.), 1995.

Political Science

Patterson, Amy S. Participation and democracy at the grassroots: a study of development associations in rural Senegal. Ph.D., Indiana U., 1996. 9716484.

Religion

October/December 1997
Social Work

Sociology

Theater

Theology

Urban & Regional Planning

Women's Studies
